Aircraft liability insurance

Third-party insurance

The insurance covers claims relating to civil legal liability provisions as a consequence of:

- injury to or death of third parties outside the aircraft
- damage to or destruction of property belonging to third parties outside the aircraft caused by the insured aircraft.

Combined Single Limit (CSL)

Combined insurance coverage, including third-party and passenger liability insurance, with an overall guarantee sum.

The insurance covers in addition to the third-party insurance claims relating to civil legal liability provisions as a consequence of:

- injury to or death of passengers
- damage to, destruction or loss of property belonging to passengers, up to a maximum of CHF 5,000 each passenger, subject to deductible of CHF 200 on using the insured aircraft.

Conditions

The insurance premium is based on individual features like aircraft type, useage, or number of passengers carried.

Aircraft hull insurance

Hull insurance

The insurance covers damage caused by: fire, natural hazards falling rocks, flood, inundation, windstorm (40 knots and avalanches, snow pressure), theft, breakage of glass, snowslide, and damage caused by martens and small animals.

Ground risk insurance

The same events as covered by the hull insurance, including stationary operation of the engines, but on the ground only. Events relating to a flight (including preparatory and concluding works) as well as events on a runway in use are not insured.

Aircraft accident insurance

Occupant accident insurance

Accident insurance can be included for passenger and crew members.

The insurance covers accidents occuring during the lawful use of the insured aircraft, including accidents

- while boarding and leaving the aircraft
- while operating the aircraft on the ground
- during a parachute jump to save one's life
- as a result of an emergency landing

Daily allowance, hospital daily allowance, medical expenses, and capital sums for death and disablement can be insured.
