

Project Cargo

Managing the full array of risks that your project may face – and keeping you on schedule

About Project Cargo

Zurich – already a trusted advisor in managing risks to large-scale infrastructure, power plant and industrial projects – is expanding its protection to cover the marine and transit risks associated with such projects.

At Zurich we understand the enormous pressure you face in bringing infrastructure assets online and on schedule, and the challenges you may meet along the way. Moving oversize and expensive shipments into extremely complex settings, markets and jurisdictions is challenging enough.

The added pressure of time makes risk management absolutely critical. These complex projects require a global insurer: one with the experience, global reach, and financial strength necessary to execute quickly and expertly to meet your needs.

Why Zurich

- A global leader in cargo insurance
- A knowledge leader in the construction industry, offering support from its Construction Industry Specialization Program
- Offers insurance and risk management solutions for the majority of Fortune's Global 100 companies
- Manages programs with risk exposure in more than 170 countries

That's Zurich's Project Cargo

Project Cargo broadens the scope of Zurich's risk management solutions so that your project remains on schedule. When setbacks occur, Zurich can swiftly, expertly, and creatively resolve your claims so that delays are minimized and resolved. And with its global reach, Zurich is the natural partner for projects around the world, especially the flourishing markets in Asia, Latin America and the Middle East.

Potential risks covered by Project Cargo include loss or damage to cargo, delayed start-up, general average and salvage.

For further information

For a closer look at how Zurich can help you to deliver when it really matters, please email a member of the Project Cargo team:

Marco Merlino at marco.merlino@zurich.com

