

Art is our passion

Zurich Art

We share a passion

Your enthusiasm for art is reflected in your collection, which you look after and are continuously enhancing with new works. Art is with you on a daily basis in your private life or professionally.

Zurich has also brought together a top-quality art collection over time. Art is a true experience both for customers and our employees at our business premises. Furthermore, Zurich is committed to helping different institutions. As the host sponsor of Art Basel, we use the unique international art show as a dialogue platform, and of no less importance is the annual awarding of the "Zurich Art Prize". As part of our patronage for the "Haus Konstruktiv", we maintain an intensive collaboration with the internationally recognised Center of Constructive and Concrete Design and Contemporary Art. Both – the museum and Zurich – use the solid Zurich basis to network worldwide.

With "Zurich Art" art insurance, which we are offering together with Nationale Suisse, we are particularly committed to risk management of art in private and company-owned collections and institutions. Individually, flexibly and comprehensively.

Zurich

For private commitments

It was your passion for art which gave rise to your very personal art collection over time. You looked for each piece and brought it all together piece by piece. You have created a collection with a value greater than the total of the individual works. That is why it is all more important to you as a private collector that none of the works is damaged or stolen. With "Zurich Art" you can protect your collection from the financial losses resulting from damage. The product can be adapted to your very personal needs and optimally coordinated with other types of insurance, such as household contents insurance. In addition, you benefit from a comprehensive service in issues relevant to art history and security.

Art

For secure values in companies

The collection of your company has grown for decades and thereby reflects the history and philosophy of your company in a very special way. At the same time, a first-class art collection also means a financial investment which has to be protected. With "Zurich Art" you can not only protect your collection from damage, loss or theft but you are also gaining a competent partner for questions involving the optimum placement, security and preservation of your works of art. This means that not only the value of your collection is maintained but you can put it to better use for the representation of your company.

For a professional presence

Art moves people and is moved itself. Particularly collections accessible to the public require comprehensive protection – not only at their regular location. They are particularly subject to an increased risk in transport and as loans to exhibitions. With "Zurich Art" your works of art enjoy comprehensive insurance coverage not only in Switzerland and Liechtenstein but temporarily worldwide – from nail to nail.

Works of art are unique. That is why they require individual protection. Different locations and different types of art objects can be insured on a per-need basis within the same policy.
